3. Under Signatures, choose who signs (up to three in one row).
4. When everything is correct, press Issue letter. This adds the verification code and QR code.
5. Download the PDF, or send it with Email to person or WhatsApp.
6. If a letter was issued by mistake, open it and press Revoke. The verify page will show it as no longer valid. Then create a corrected letter.

Good practice

- Keep a copy of every letter, and the signed copy where applicable, in the employee's file. Every letter is also saved in the system.
- Salary, dates and designation must match payroll and the appointment letter.
- Revoke a wrong letter instead of deleting it, so the verify page clearly shows it is no longer valid.
- Take advice from a lawyer or HR professional before issuing a warning or termination letter.
- Anyone can check that a letter is genuine on the website's verify page, using its code or the QR code.
